Welcome to Rouken Glen Veterinary Surgery

The veterinary team is headed by Richard Black BVMS, MRCVS. Our nursing team is led by Sara Black and the practice manager is Barbara Raskin.

We have invested in digital x-ray equipment, ultrasound, an in-house laboratory, a dedicated dental suite and two full operating theatres. When referrals are necessary, we have an excellent relationship with the new Small Animal Hospital at the Glasgow Vet School in Bearsden with whom we cooperate closely.

We provide a full 24 hour service, 365 days of the year. There is always a veterinary surgeon on call to provide advice and should emergency treatment or surgery be required, it will be handled by the full veterinary and nursing team at Vets Now. We believe this is in your pet's best interests.

At Rouken Glen Veterinary Surgery, we aim to provide you with the best possible service and give you a specific allotted appointment time. Both a thorough examination and discussion are essential to make informed decisions about your pet's care and you will receive an excellent service that represents good value for money. We strongly recommend pet insurance to cover all eventualities.

We like to involve you in your pet's care, with a full explanation of their treatment plan. We believe that you should understand why we do what we do! Consultations are by appointment, ensuring that you receive a proper explanation every time you visit us. Longer appointments are allocated to all new clients, puppies and kittens, allowing us to get to know you (and your pet) properly.

We encourage communication on all levels; face to face, by telephone and email. We have regular meetings for all our staff; to receive training, discuss points of interest and listen to feedback from our clients. This helps us to understand what our clients expect from us and therefore enable us to deliver an excellent service to you.
